“Jerry Garcia Lives Again”

I painted this digital painting for my brother David. He has always been a huge fan of Jerry Garcia, of the band “The Grateful Dead”. Painted in Procreate 5 with Apple pencil, I spent about 11 hrs on this using textures and custom brushes I built in the brush editor.

I started with 3 different concepts of Jerry based on images of Jerry in concert settings over the years. The images I used for simply reference images to get a sense of the character and personality of the singer / creative artist that Jerry was. Again, this was a challenging but fun painting to create!

“Spectacular Open Road Memory”

This image was painted digitally from a picture a friend posted recently. The car was wonderful and I painted it in a mountain setting (background). The car itself is placed (in my painting) on a salt flat. This car is a 1929 Duesenberg Model J. I started with a photoshopped image brought into Procreate 5.2, using Apple pencil. Its got 12 layers of texture, uses both watercolour and oil brushes. An experiment to say the least.

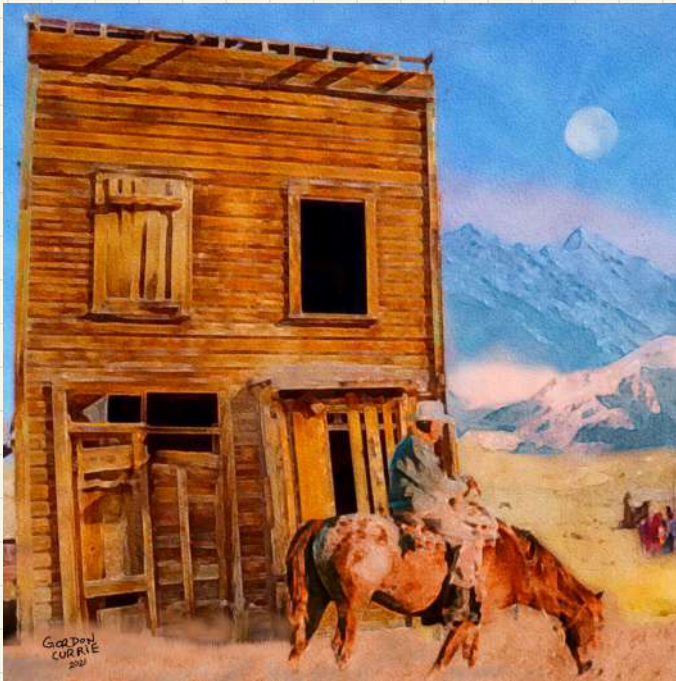

“Rocky Westcoast - Gulf Islands”

This sketch started yesterday morning and finished last night at midnight. This digital painting (created in Procreate 5.2 and Apple pencil) was inspired by my many trips to Piers Island as a child and teenager in Victoria, BC. The trees in this image were quite new, but the old growth forest was in the background. This image is 11” X 17” in size, about 23 layers of detail and used about over 25 different brushes. Fun to paint!.

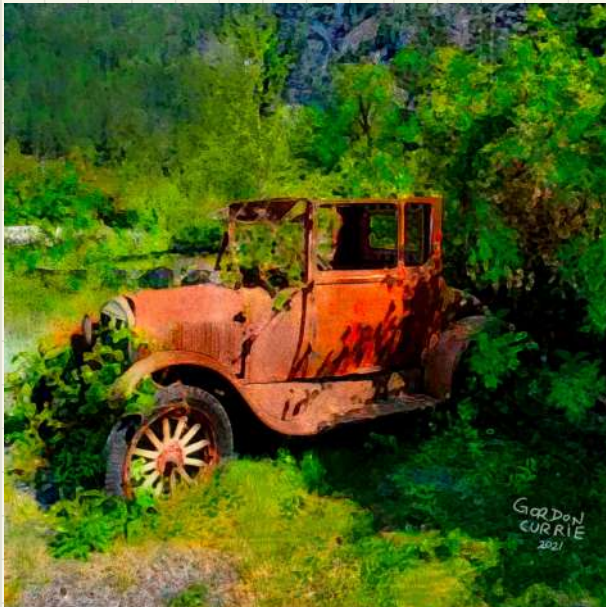

“Wagon Wheel”

This was a quick, digital watercolour of a wagon wheel from our property. I painted on my iPad Pro using Procreate. This image almost look photographic but is a painting. Not much to say, this was another 3 hour experiment to build believable textures and wood grain.

“Forgotten Cowboy”

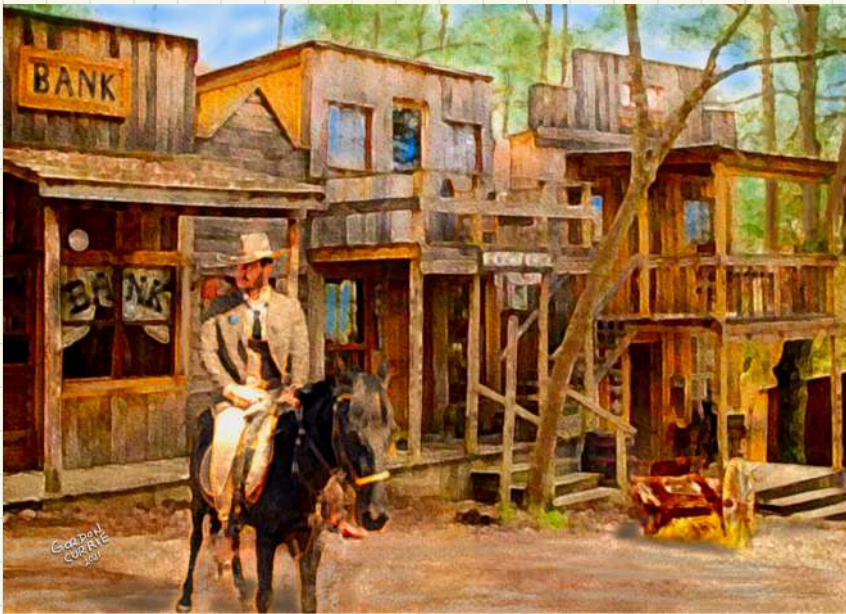

This western theme painting was focused on the concept of a lone building, a forgotten cowboy and a lone moon. This 14 “ X 14” digital painting was a quick concept study for an idea I dreamt about. Created in Procreate, I wanted to experiment on this one. I tried to portray the dusk and dry nature of the prairie coupled with the mountain range in the background.

“Forgotten Relic” - Squamish, B.C.

This painting was inspired by a photo my younger brother (David Currie - Artist) took in Squamish, B.C. this fall. Based on his photo I painted this rendition of the old car, hidden away in the bushes. This painting was created in Procreate 5.2, using some of the new brush features. I used 100% watercolour brushes on this painting. It was made up of about 32 layers and is about 16” X 16” in size.

This image will go well with my old car paintings that I have recently created. I plan to make prints and some canvas special editions. Thanks to David for use of his reference photo. Visit his site at www.CurrieArtworks.com .

“New Sheriff In Town”

This painting was started 2 months ago and was created in Procreate 5 with Apple pencil. It is 16” X 24” in size and took about 16-18 hours to complete. I used 4 different reference photos. The hardest part was painting the Sheriff on the horse.

The brushes used were all custom texture brushes that I bought and collected since about January 2021. In order to create good looking paintings, a big part is the brushes you use. I have a series of paintings in this “Western Series” that I hope to complete soon.

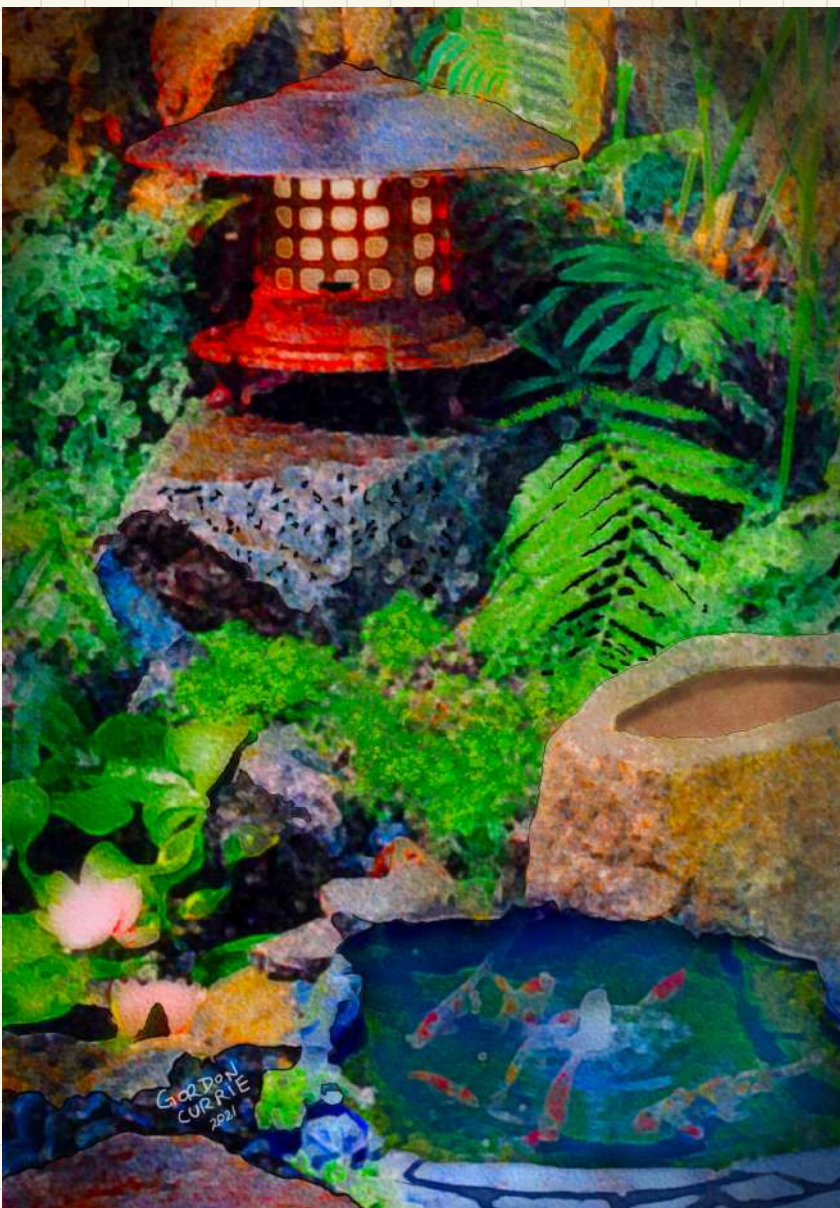

“Japanese Garden Of Plenty”

This garden digital painting was inspired by 4 different reference photos. The image was create in Procreate 5.2 and with the Apple Pencil. I used over 34 different brushes, when I normally use half as many. This image took about 12 hrs of digital painting. Its about 17” X 17” in size. This was started about 14 months ago. When it started snowing today, I ended up finishing.

Castle House #4

LATEST PAINTING

Another Fantasy Digital Painting I started this summer. Finally decided to finish. This painting took around 17 hours (over 4 months) and has about 8 custom textures, 12-14 brushes including brushes from VisualTimmy, the Ghiblis brush set and ST's stipple brushes. I love creating castle style houses. I used a reference photo and most of the foliage, I created myself using techniques I developed myself.

European Old Home

This digital painting was painted over the last 3 days, using some architectural references and some fantasy buildings I found. All in all I borrowed about 5 different images for inspiration. Using Procreate 5X and Apple pencil, this took about 11 hrs of hand painting. Just the outlining took me 3 hours.

This originally was going to be a haunted house but the architecture reminded me of Victoria times and scary houses. I used about 30 different brushes including cloud brushes, leave and foliage brushes and 5 different airbrushes with custom taper settings.

Our Pricing Philosophy

We love creating art. We want to share our art at reasonable prices. For that reason, we work hard at keeping our prices within reach of our followers. I'd rather sell 100 prints at $30 than 10 at $300.

UPDATE: We do have a series of watercolour prints of past art projects (garden art) that will be printed on high quality watercolour paper, will be signed and numbered. These will be priced in the $200 - $450 range. These giclee prints are collectible and we are working with specialized printers to reproduce. Expect an updated colour catalogue in the fall/ winter of 2020.
